FOREST STEWARDSHIP COUNCIL® (FSC) CERTIFICATION

By partnering with the Eckersley Group you can be assured that you are partnering with an environmentally responsible manufacturer.

FSC stands for Forest Certification Scheme. Worldwide there are more than 27,000 Forest Management and Chain of Custody certificate holders and almost 180,000 million hectares of forest is FSC certified worldwide.

By purchasing products that carry the FSC logo buyers can be sure that they are making a positive difference around the world, allowing them to feel a connection between the product they have bought, the forest floor as well as the people who live and work there.

Wood that is harvested from an FSC certified forest ensures regeneration and growth of new trees under a stringent management plan.

Put simply, FSC is environmentally appropriate, socially beneficial and economically viable.

When one of our clients chooses to print their publications on an FSC certified paper product they have the option to include the FSC certification logo on their material. This is a globally recognised logo and reassures end users of the publications that the paper used comes from a sustainable forestry with the highest environmental and social production standards.

By producing publications that are made with FSC certified products and printing the FSC logo onto the publications your business can provide assurance about ethical and environmental product standards and forge stronger links with your own customer base.

This can be done with ease, we've done the hard work by gaining accreditation, consult with our sales team to find out how you can add value to your brand whilst being environmentally responsible.
